Thank you for your donation supporting Wetlands International

A message from Wetlands International

Thank you so much for your support. It means an incredible amount to us that you are helping us to conserve and restore the world's wetlands - priceless ecosystems that underpin our societies and economies, and are home to incredible biodiversity. Yet they are undervalued and underfunded.

For 30 years, we've been working to safeguard wetlands and their biodiversity with communities and partners across the globe. We can only continue this work thanks to donations from supporters like you. Together we can reverse the loss of wetlands for the benefit of people, nature and climate.
